

COLLECTORS' BOOK

346 HOT WHEELS® cars and trucks from the 1982 models back to the beginning!

1982 EDITION

Mattel® cannot supply older models. The 1982 line of HOT WHEELS® vehicles is available at stores.

■ Indicates vehicle is included in the 1982 Hot Wheels line.

The keynote for this second edition of the HOT WHEELS® COLLECTORS' BOOK is realism. You will see how original designs are carefully matched for Hot Wheels by precise measurement and the closest attention to detail.

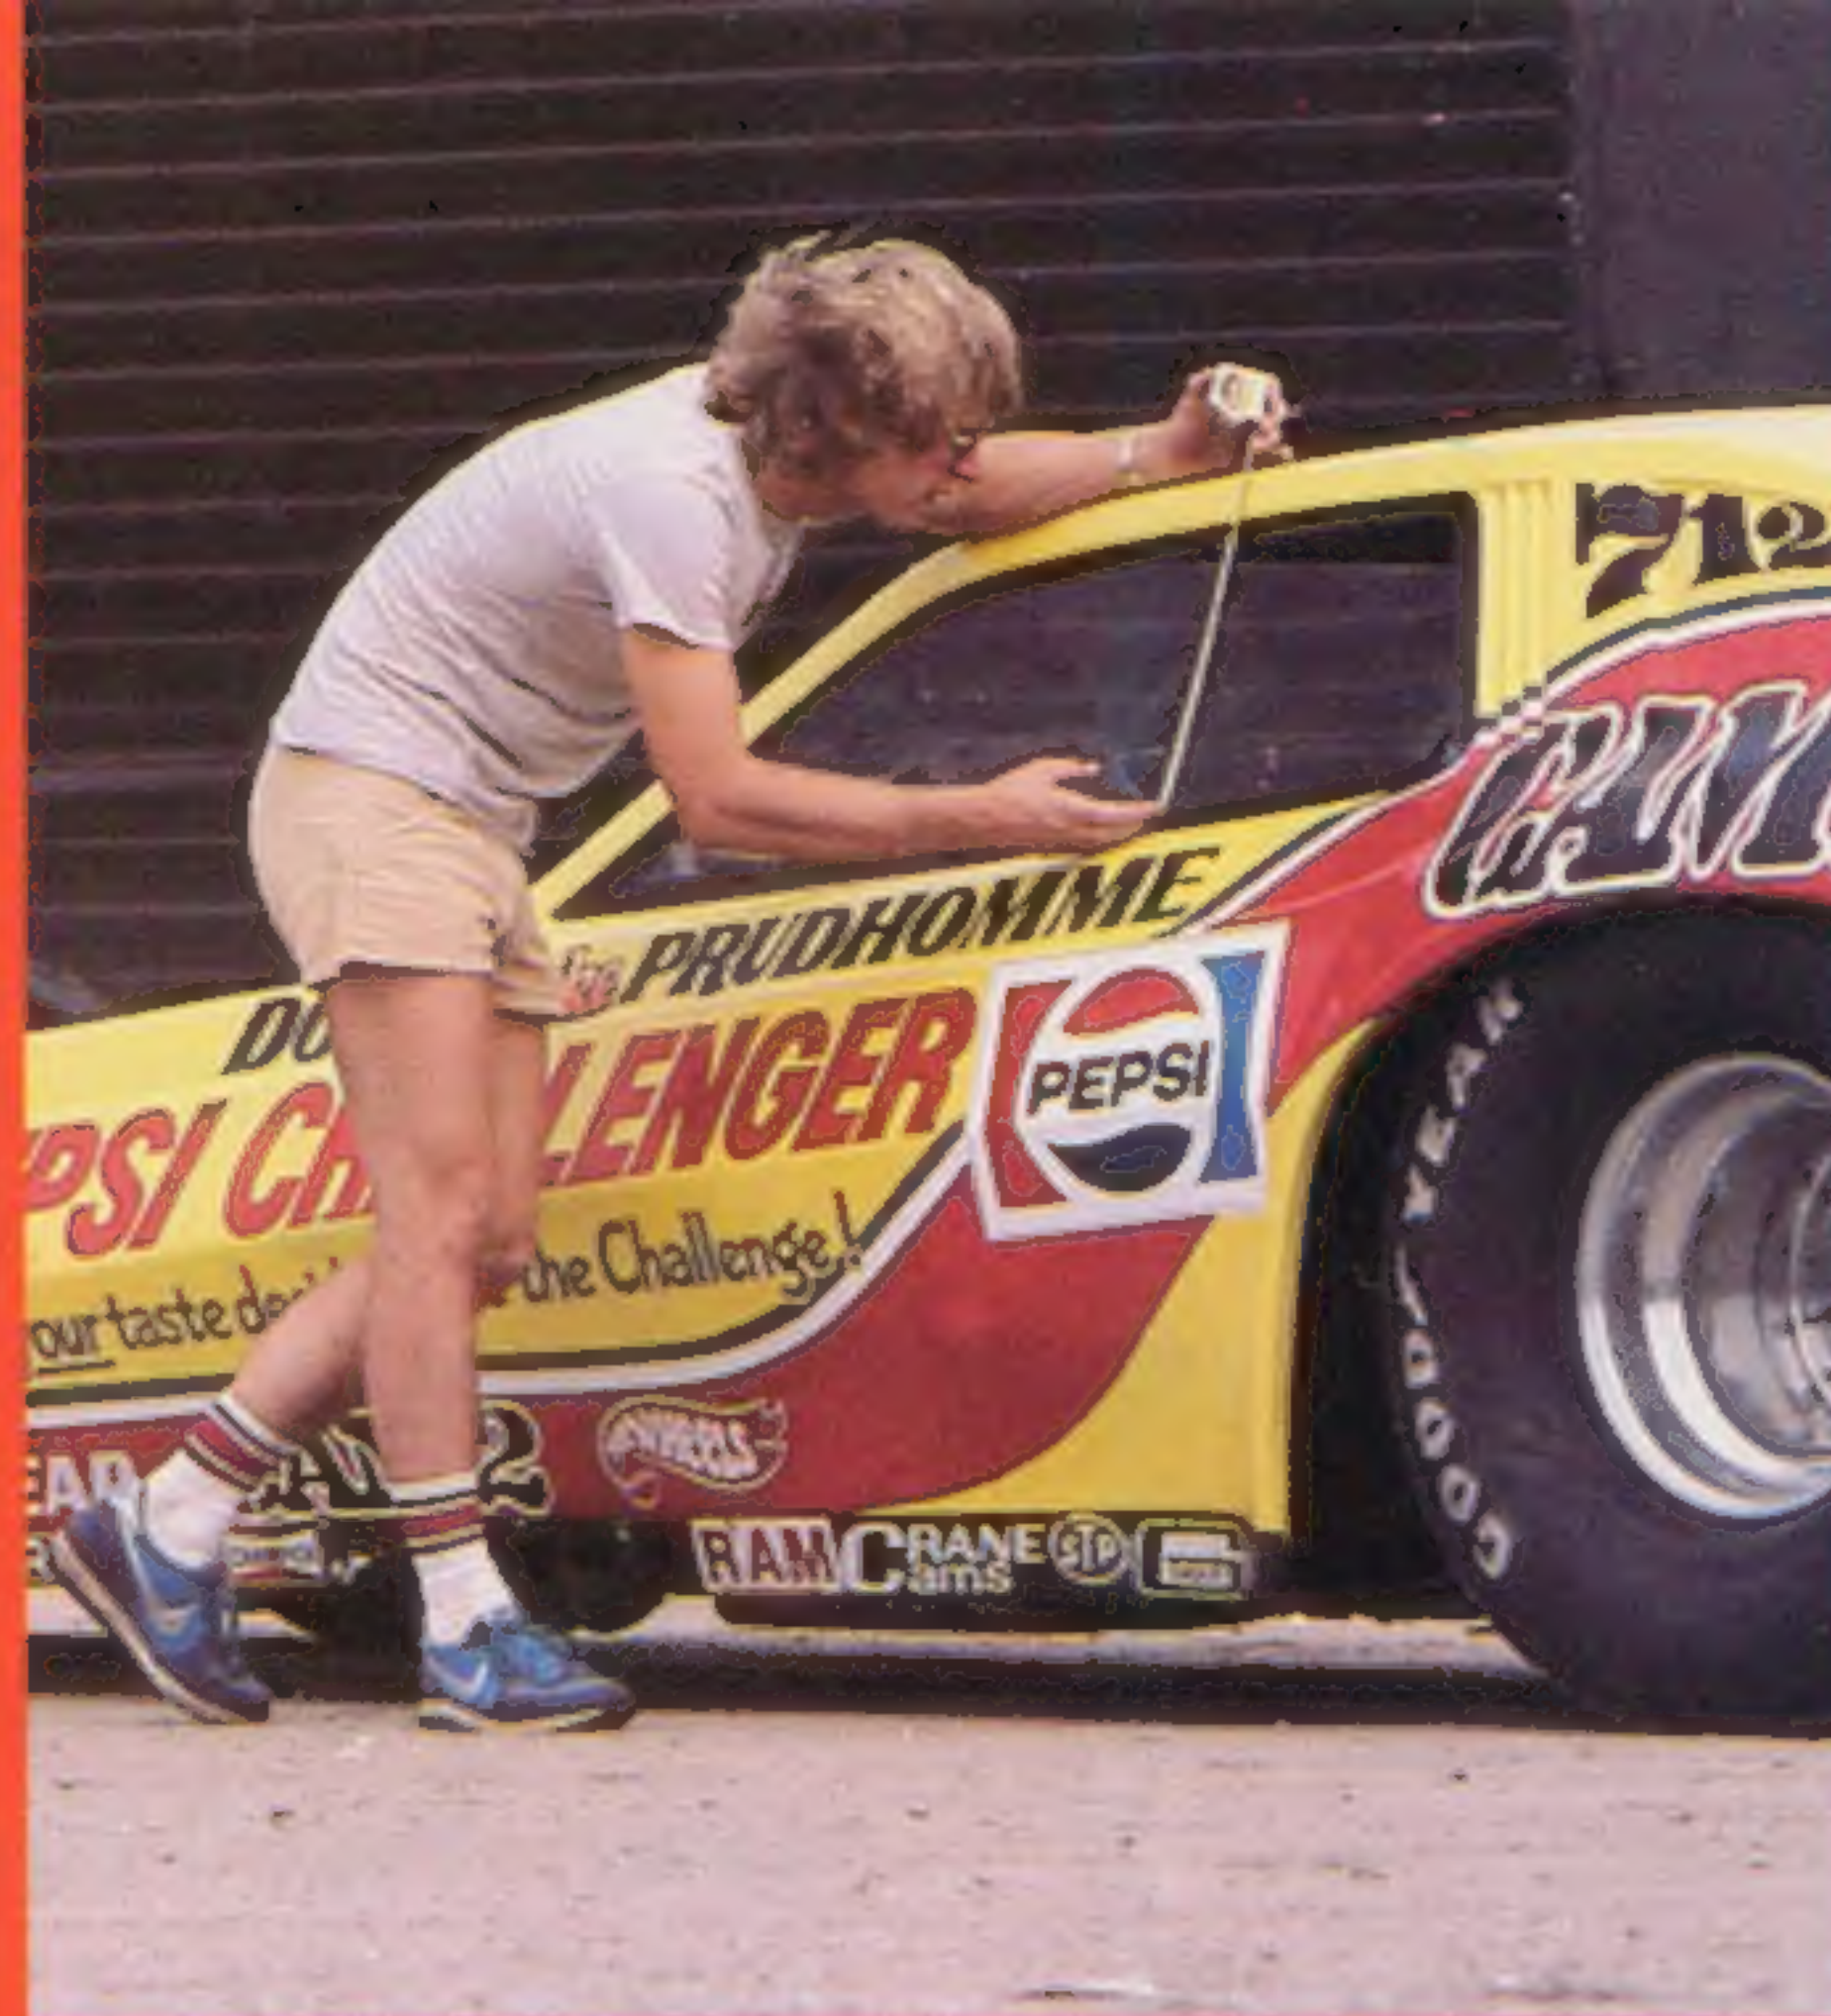

Starting with the real thing—a full-size vehicle to be translated into a Hot Wheels® vehicle—artists, engineers, model makers and tool makers all go to great lengths to assure authenticity. Hot Wheels realism is the end product of infinite patience by skilled people who know and love cars.

This second Collectors' Book provides a registry update. It gives you an accurate master list with photographs of 346 cars and trucks introduced since the first Hot Wheels year, 1968. More than 350,000,000 Hot Wheels vehicles have been sold.

Additional Collector's Tips are included—extra inside information, model year by model year. You'll find these, plus photographs and news about Hot Wheels action sets and Steering Rigs, the tractor/trailers you “steer yourself”.

We hope this book will add to your fun as you trade models and exchange knowledge with other Hot Wheels collectors. But this book is for you, even if you are not a collector. This book is for everybody who owns Hot Wheels cars and likes to race them and talk about them.

HOT WHEELS® REALISM...how it happens

1. Photographing the original. After considering many cars, trucks and vans, one vehicle is selected. Roll after roll of color photographs will be needed. Closeups of the grill, overhead and full-length views, every detail, both interior and exterior are captured on film.

2. Measuring the original. Precise measurements of the full-size original come next. Sometimes this requires consultation with manufacturers or owners of rare, older models. Detailed dimensions, such as height, wheel-base and engine compartment overhang are carefully noted.

3. From photographs to mechanical drawings. Hot Wheels designers are interested in all styling elements. The original vehicle is drawn to scale, accurate from bumper to bumper. Industrial engineers and draftsmen translate the photographs and measurements into mechanical drawings.

4. Still more measurements for pattern making. No dimension can be overlooked and all parts must be in scale. To make sure, wooden models and tough epoxy patterns are formed. These are four times bigger than the actual Hot Wheels vehicle.

5. Reproducing authentic details. Door handles, emblems, the shape of a headlight or an instrument panel — these give each vehicle its special personality. And Hot Wheels color printing adds the finishing touches beautifully, like fine pin stripes on the Stutz Blackhawk or the golden eagle on the Firebird.

6. The finished product. It's ready for you, Hot Wheels® number 2023, Pepsi* Challenger. It is based on the competition funny car made famous by Don Prudhomme, one of the winningest drag race drivers of all time! The miniature drag racer in die-cast metal is decorated, assembled and tested to Hot Wheels standards for quality and safety.

■ 3252 '35 Classic Caddy

■ 1698 Cadillac Seville

Automotive elegance then and now! Hot Wheels® for 1982 contrasts an ultra-modern front-wheel drive Cadillac Seville with a stately Cadillac town car, vintage 1935. True to Hot Wheels tradition, both status symbols are faithfully detailed. The Hot Wheels contemporary Cadillac accents the distinctive Seville profile with sweeping two-tone color. The '35 Classic Caddy has sidemounts and an open-air chauffeur's compartment. The original had a 154-inch wheelbase and offered a telephone to talk to the driver through a glass partition! Our automotive future is represented by the fuel-efficient Fairmont Futura and Aries K-Car, plus an experimental car, Land Lord™. In 1982, additional vehicles are fitted with golden wheels and super-fast axles of smaller diameter. These are Hot Wheels® THE HOT ONES™!

Twelve model introductions, plus reintroductions with new colors and tampos designs highlighted Hot Wheels® for 1981. There was Dixie Challenger™ with stars & bars on the roof, Chevy Citation and a French ♦ classic of the 30's, the T-50 Bugatti. Two more vehicles are standout examples of Hot Wheels authenticity. Old Number 5™ has a pumper up front, plus fire bell, firehose & ladders. And the eight-wheeler Airport Rescue™ has water guns that rotate. Seventy-five vehicles in all made up the line, Hot Wheels 1981.

Hot Wheels® for 1977 numbered sixty-nine vehicles . . . including the popular import, the Datsun Z-Whiz™, a GMC Motor Home and the regal Duesenberg. In the 1930's, the classic Doozie was the last word in luxury on wheels — one of the most costly fine motorcars built in America. The '31 Doozie phaeton has sidemount spare tires. By the late 1970's, the spacious GMC Motor Home became a regal contender for motoring luxury. The Hot Wheels® versions feature authentic detailing. To celebrate the nation's 200th birthday, the Hot Wheels® line introduced four vehicles painted red, white & blue. Two were trucks — the American Tipper® and the American Hauler®, plus two cars — a 1936 Ford coupe and the Formula 5000 racer — “No. 76”. Along with the other patriotic colors, six 1976 Hot Wheels® models wore the olive drab of the United States Army. In addition, 1976 saw the introduction of a whole new category — Hot Wheels® Super Chromes® — nine vehicles that gleamed but still displayed superb trim detailing.

Hot Wheels® Open Fire was perhaps the most unusual car of the year, 1972. It was a six wheeler with four wheels up front. The extra-long nose carried an Allison V-12 aircraft engine. The green Ferrari 512 S and the gull-wing Mercedes-Benz C-111 literally opened up — revealing authentically detailed cockpits. An armored truck, called Funny Money® was mounted over a hot rod chassis. There was also a race car with a sidemount-engine. It had a driver's seat that slid out like a drawer.

Two famous drag racers — the Mongoose and the Snake — highlight Hot Wheels® for '71. Detailing on the low-slung dragsters and on the Snake II funny car was authentic, down to the last decal. Classic car buffs will take special note of the 1930's Cord Phaeton — perhaps the most distinguished shovel nose in automotive history. Thirty-five brand new Hot Wheels® vehicles rounded out the exciting model year, 1971.

For model year 1970, Hot Wheels® Heavyweights joined the lineup... ambulance, tow truck, dump truck and a revolving cement mixer with picture window cab! The famous Ferrari 312 racer had exposed carburetor ram tubes. Chevrolet's Nomad wagon, one of the cleanest designs in Detroit history, kept the American classics represented. And 1970 was the year of the original Paddy Wagon hot rod, plus Red Baron®. Later versions dropped the silver helmet spike to comply with safety regulations. HOT WHEELS® Steering Rigs

Introduced in mid-1981, Hot Wheels® Steering Rigs provide a unique steering feature. You can take the wheel and steer 'em home yourself! Authentic big rig detailing is taken from the great names in trucking, such as Mack, White, Peterbilt, GMC or Kenworth. Complete vehicles are almost eight inches long. Each tractor detaches from the cattle trailer, tanker or hauler behind it. 1982 models included, The Hot Wheels Steering Rigs line totals twelve tractor/trailer vehicles.

The die-cast trucks you can really steer!

HOT WHEELS® Race and Stunt sets

Action is a Hot Wheels tradition. Right from the start in the 1960's, Hot Wheels racers have been challenging barriers and tunnels, going for a spinout — even double-daring each other in a Criss-Cross Crash™. The Flyin' Bronco™ set is literally that. You send a Hot Wheels 4-wheeler soaring over a pair of jump ramps. Two of the latest sets for 1982 feature action with innovation. The Hot Wheels® Inside Track™ set is a self-contained, portable speedway with side-by-side expandable tracks. The Hot Wheels® Loop and Chute set is a race that features a drag chute brake.

Some Hot Wheels® vehicles not for use with some sets. Mattel® cannot supply older models. The 1982 line of HOT WHEELS® vehicles and sets is available at stores.
